Welcome Message

Chairperson of IAD Organising Committee

On behalf of the IAD 2027 Organising Committee, it is my great pleasure to extend a warm and heartfelt welcome to our industry partners.

IAD 2027 marks a landmark occasion as the inaugural joint conference of the International Society of Dermatopathology (ISDP), the Asian Society of Dermatopathology (ASD), and the Dermatological Society of Singapore (DSS). Our theme, “Advancing Dermatopathology, Partnering Beyond Borders”, reflects our commitment to fostering collaboration, sharing knowledge, and building friendships across continents.

The ISDP XLVI Symposium will take place from September 16 – 18, 2027, followed by the 9th ASD Annual Meeting and the 38th DSS Annual Scientific Meeting from September 18 – 19, 2027. We project 550 local and international attendees from multiple regions including our neighbours in South-East Asia, the large nations of India and East Asia, plus contingents from Europe and North America. These delegates will be interested to learn about cutting edge treatments and techniques that they can bring with them back home.

IAD 2027 therefore represents a unique opportunity to showcase dermatological therapeutics, medical devices and laboratory essentials side by side in a meeting common to both dermatologists and pathologists. This is an inclusive conference that will encompass sessions dedicated to traditional medical and surgical dermatology as well as laboratory medicine. Industry partners will undoubtedly find their target audience amongst delegates to this meeting.

We look forward to welcoming each of you for IAD 2027, and to sharing in the knowledge, camaraderie, and inspiration that this special event will bring.

Warm regards,

Adj A/Prof Joyce Lee
Chairperson
IAD 2027 Organising Committee

About Singapore

Situated in the heart of South-East Asia, Singapore is at the crossroads of international travel, with over 4 billion people within a seven-hour flight radius. Its strategic location makes it highly accessible for delegates from across the globe, positioning it as an ideal host for international congresses.

Singapore offers visitors an intriguing fusion of cultures from both East and West. As a progressive, modern, and secular democracy, the nation is recognised for its strong record of racial and religious harmony. It consistently ranks among the world's leading cities—placed first globally for city infrastructure (Mercer, 2017) and ranked as the second safest city in the world after Tokyo (Economist Intelligence Unit, 2017).

Home to a population of approximately 5.6 million people, Singapore is a multicultural society comprising primarily Chinese, Malay, and Indian ethnic groups, with English as the main language of communication. It is a global hub for finance, business, healthcare, and scientific research, known for its high standards of governance, transparency, and efficiency.

Singapore provides all the fundamentals of an exceptional host destination: a pro-business environment, world-class infrastructure, professional services, and award-winning event venues. Many international companies operating in Asia have established their regional headquarters here, alongside leading research institutions and universities such as the National University of Singapore, consistently ranked among the top universities globally.

Beyond business and innovation, Singapore is also known as a “Garden City”, offering a unique blend of urban sophistication and natural beauty. From iconic attractions like Gardens by the Bay to lush tropical rainforests such as Bukit Timah Nature Reserve, visitors can experience nature seamlessly integrated within the city.

Singapore's connectivity, safety, and cultural diversity make it highly attractive to international delegates. Most congresses held here enjoy strong global participation, with international attendees typically comprising 70–90% of total attendance. This diversity enhances the quality of scientific exchange and ensures that content remains globally relevant, while also providing valuable engagement opportunities for sponsors and industry partners.

As a leading global biopharmaceutical hub, Singapore is home to over 60 manufacturing plants from major multinational companies and more than 80 pharmaceutical and biotechnology firms, many of which have established their regional headquarters here. Major international congresses hosted in Singapore have consistently attracted strong industry support and participation, further reinforcing its reputation as a premier destination for scientific meetings.

In addition, Singapore's political neutrality makes it a trusted and preferred destination for international gatherings, providing a stable and welcoming environment for delegates from around the world.

Acceptance of General Terms and Conditions

Those wishing to participate as a sponsor or exhibitor unreservedly accept and undertake to comply with these general terms and conditions. Personnel may not initiate sales or marketing activities while in the room where a meeting session is taking place. The use of devices for the mechanical reproduction of sound is prohibited. The Organisation may provide printed matters, souvenirs and giveaways at their exhibit booth but cannot distribute these items in any other space beyond the space allotted to the Organisation. IAD staff have the right to approve exhibitor materials. In the event that an Organisation engages in on-location transactions, it will be responsible for complying with all laws and regulations of the IAD hosting country regarding sales taxes and laws that may pertain to such sales. The Organisation reserves the right to alter the location of the exhibit area as it deems advisable and in the interest of the Exhibit Show; however, no change of location will be made without full discussion with the Organisation affected by such changes.
